MARY PENDER GREENE, LCSW-R, ACSW is a professional speaker, organizational consultant, career/executive coach and an accomplished psychotherapist with 25 years of experience. Because of her leadership expertise and management style, her services are much sought after by directors of nonprofit organizations, corporations and professional associations. Ms. Pender Greene specializes in career and executive coaching, adult relationships and leadership development. She is known for her passionate commitment to the advancement of women in leadership roles. Her background also includes executive and management responsibility for America's largest nonprofit—The Jewish Board of Family and Children's Services—a non-sectarian mental health and social service organization.

A master communicator, Mary Pender Greene applies her extensive knowledge to target her presentations specifically to the goals of each client. She concentrates on the relationship one has with one's self, and how that relationship affects the bonds one builds with others. Ms. Pender Greene educates people on creating healthy relationships; choosing compatible careers; and identifying relationship patterns. She believes that relationships should be consciously selected, analyzed, nurtured, and sometimes even relinquished.

Mary Pender Greene has designed and facilitated presentations and workshops in the United States and abroad. With her uplifting and compelling style, she engages and empowers audiences as she facilitates life-changing insights. Mary Pender Greene employs a genuine passion for people to get to the heart of an issue and to deliver knowledge and tools that can be applied for a lifetime.

Ms. Pender Greene's energizing presentations inspire people to take action, overcome obstacles and strive for excellence. Her inspirational keynotes and leadership development programs include Career and Love Relationship Workshops. See reverse for details.

TESTIMONIALS

"I found an insightful masterful relationship counselor who was sensitive to my earnest, though awkward and miscommunicated, efforts to strengthen our family. Mary Pender Greene's calming voice taught us to use our differences to enhance our life experiences...As a result I believe our son grew up in a loving family and has also been able to meet and marry a sane and loving partner."

"A mutual friend introduced me to Mary during a time of deep personal crisis and turmoil. I knew I wanted to chart a new path in my life's journey, but I did not know how...This is where Mary's gift lies. She helps one develop An arsenal to deal with the joys, the sorrows, relationships and everyday challenges that one faces in life...I recommend Mary without reservation."

"Amazingly, Mary recognized my internal and external struggles within moments after we began to speak. Her keen insight and unique ability to connect to others helped, over time, to push back the shadowing sense of disillusionment and tendrils of despair that had crept into my psyche. Mary's incomparable understanding of people and systems helped me to chart career and life courses that have been intensely rewarding. Mary has helped me find my voice and sense of a place in the professional world. In doing so, she helped me access a world I had begun to think was inaccessible."
